- The first year students may be given special orientation about ragging and advise them to report to the principal or staff members, if any ragging events take place.
- The staff members especially the first year class teachers must have close watch on the students.
- Visitors of non-students/strangers in the college campus should be restricted.
- One meeting may be organized especially for first year students to educate 'how to interact with the senior students?'

The principal thanked the members for their availability and for their support.
